Want to Help Keep Our Streams Clean?

Town of Tyrone Stormwater Newsletter - Fall 2021

Non-point source pollutants, such as litter, are carried by rainwater from our stormwater systems directly into our local waterways. Litter pollution can negatively affect an aquatic ecosystem and cause flooding issues.

In an ongoing effort to keep our streams clean, Fayette County and the Town of Tyrone have teamed up to host our 12th annual Rivers Alive clean-up event.

Since 2010, volunteers have helped protect our environment and drinking water supply by cleaning thousands of pounds of trash from our waterways.

If you are interested in helping keep our waterways healthy, please consider joining our stream cleaning team.
